November 2017

It is with great sadness that we report the passing of Art Crisp on November 2, 2017, at the age of 92. Art was born in 1925, and was a WWII veteran who proudly wore his WWII veteran's hat.

Art was one of the originals at Train Mountain, and built and rebuilt the yards and tracks several times.

Train Mountain on Oregon Public Broadcast

Several years ago Oregon Public Broadcast visited Train Mountain and filmed a short story about us that appeared in their Oregon Field Guide TV series. They returned again this last spring to film an updated story.

This new segment on Train Mountain was aired in their Thursday, November 9th broadcast of Oregon Field Guide. You can now view directly on the opb.org website. The entire segment is here: <https://watch.opb.org/video/3006578129/>

OPB has made the Train Mountain part of the broadcast available on Facebook, and can be viewed without being a Facebook member by clicking here.

2018 Operations Meet

Important Announcement-Schedule Change

I am pleased to announce that the 2018 Operations Meet will be starting on Thursday, July 26th. The orientation meeting will be held Thursday morning at 9:00 AM (immediately following the usual morning meeting). The operations will begin at noon on Thursday, and continue until Saturday afternoon at 5:00PM. This will give us an extra half day of operating.

Setup for the meet will be done as before, starting on Monday of the work week, and continuing through Wednesday. As usual, the cars will be brought back in on Sunday morning.

Watch for more details about the Operations Meet in following editions of the Gazette. If anyone has any questions about the meet, please email me at railroc66@yahoo.com, or phone me at 510-227-9174.

Richard Croll, Trainmaster

Triennial Volunteering!

WE WANT YOU!

The Triennial can only happen with your help. The facility provides the place to hold the meet but in order to be a fun and safe meet requires a few hours of everyone's time while you are here. The Triennial Coordinators (Jeff Mills, David Waterstreet, Danny Chamrad) have most of the committee chairman seats filled (I think) but all of the committees need worker bees.

There are indoor, sit down jobs, outdoor jobs, Company Store jobs, Triennial Office jobs, just a lot of jobs that will make this meet as special as they all have been.

So please let us know you really want to help by sending us an email at info@tmrr.org with the following information: Member name, Email address, Contact phone, Areas of interest, Arrival/Departure Dates. Thanks.

Triennial Vendors

We all have a favorite vendor from where we get parts and engines and all of the other necessities required to be in this hobby. Please ask them if they plan on coming. If you are contemplating a future purchase maybe they can bring your item with them and help offset their considerable travel expenses. Remember while they are at the meet they are not at their shop. I know Train Mountain is ordering some much needed parts and supplies from a couple of vendors. The logos on page 9 are from a few of those vendors already signed up. Looks like a real nice selection of products should be available.

Triennial Office

Train Mountain's front office is very small and somewhat confining especially during special events like the Triennial. So the Triennial Committee is setting up a special event office called suspiciously "the Triennial Office" (clever eh!). It will be located on the exterior south wall of the Central Station main building adjacent to the main turntable. While you are here for the Triennial, start all of your office related inquiries at the Triennial Office, not the front office. This of course means we need folks to man the position and be able to direct members, quests, visitors, etc. It is out of the sun; it will have chairs (stools) and be a place to see everything going on. SEE ARTICLE ON PAGE 8 FOR MORE DETAILS.

Train Mountain Track Shop

With the coming of winter the focus of volunteer time switches from outdoor activities to indoor activities. The Track Shop is in full swing and the finished panels are flowing out the door and onto flat cars to be taken to the yard behind the Back Shop. Currently we are getting low on tie material but we have more on order and it should be here early in 2018. Dustin is welding up some more of our home grown switch frogs and we also have some more of those pieces on order as well. Should be a great track build season and we will have ample supplies on hand for whatever track projects we choose to do in 2018.

Train Mountain Back Shop

We still need a Committee Chair for Backshop Repairs.

On the Eighth day god said, "Ok Murphy, you are in charge!"

This is an important job because we all know about Murphy's Law, and this means lots of us will require Backshop help to get running again. It's not about if it will fail, because all things eventually fail. That said, when it does fail we all know it is never at a good time (one of the postulates under Murphy's Law). Thus, it is really important to have people in the Backshop to help combat Murphy's efforts.

Triennial Office

One of the new additions for the 2018 Triennial will be a Triennial Office. The addition of the Triennial Office was necessitated by the massive congestion in the TMRR Office during the 2015 Triennial.

The Triennial Office will be located in the old “Beanery,” which used to be a concession area located on the south side of the Central Station. This area has a roll-up window which gives access to people who are outside on the south porch of the Central Station building.

The Beanery has been used in the past for the Operations Meet. In the image on the right, Art Crisp is picking up a switch list during the 2012 event.

During the winter, the food preparation equipment, and all the accumulated junk, from the Beanery will be cleared out so that the area can become both the Triennial Office and the Operations Meet Office in the future.

This new Triennial Office will greatly alleviate the congestion that occurred in the TMRR Office during the 2015 Triennial.

The TMRR Office will still handle things like TMRR membership payments, infrastructure problems, payments for fuel, contact with contracted suppliers, etc.

The Triennial Office will deal with issues relating to the Triennial such as your registration materials, your badge, your track assignment, parking an RV in South Meadow, purchasing ice, rail/golf cart shuttles, or pitching a tent in the 6-acre campground to name a few.

There will be Committee personnel at the Triennial Office after the morning meeting to help members sign-up for volunteer work hours in all areas of the Triennial activities, including of course, the Triennial Office.

A Triennial Co-Chairperson will be available, as needed, through the Triennial Office to help resolve issues.

White Boards will be located just outside the Triennial Office area and will have the following daily information: volunteers needed, daily bad track reports, daily weather forecast, and other information relevant to the 2018 Triennial.

In general, if you need information or answers, go to the Triennial Office. If your issue needs to be handled by the TMRR Office, you will be directed to that office.

As with all things relating to the 2018 Triennial, organizing the Triennial Office is a work in progress. We are working on which tasks will be handled by the Triennial Office, e.g., hours of operation, staffing, etc.

We will be reporting updates on all things Triennial, including the Triennial Office functions, through future articles in the Gazette and on the TM website under the Triennial tab.

Volunteers and the 2018 Triennial

The Triennial Coordinators have already begun planning sessions for the 2018 Triennial. The Triennial Coordinators are Jeff Mills, David Waterstreet, Tom Watson, and myself, Danny Chamrad. One of the many important aspects of coordinating a Train Meet of this magnitude is the number of Volunteers that are required each day to make this event an enjoyable experience for registered attendees and the public who attend the event for a day. At this early stage of planning, we are already looking at numbers in the range of 150 volunteers per day for the 7 days of the meet, and a few days before the actual start of the meet to accommodate early-bird arrivals, in order to fill the 2-hour work slots for each committee's responsibilities. That is an almost overwhelming number of 2-hour work slots considering the hours that some committees must have volunteers is from 7 AM to 7PM or later.

There are various committees who must coordinate things from garbage collection to parking for registered members and the Public who visits Train Mountain during this event. At this early stage, we have already recognized over 30 committees which must have volunteers in order to take care of their responsibilities. We have broken Volunteer Work Slots into 2-hour slots so that a volunteer can work a few hours a day and still enjoy daily activities at the event.

We will still have Volunteer Sign-Up Sheets at the morning meetings in Central Station for people to sign up for open work slots, but we are working on some new ways to get members to volunteer to work. These new processes would include members signing up to work using emails or other communication mediums before arriving at the Triennial. When the member picks up their registration packet, we would include information in the packet about committees which they have volunteered to work on. We are also looking at a process where members could volunteer to work on committees when they pick up their registration package. We haven't finalized any of these processes yet because we must first complete the work to determine all of the Triennial committees that will be needed and how many volunteers are needed for this committee. We will distribute finalized volunteer sign-up information to members as soon as it becomes available.

When we finalize the volunteer sign-up information process, we will distribute volunteer sign-up information through articles in the Gazette and on the TM website under the Triennial tab.

Triennial Safety

By Jeff Mills

The Triennial meet requires all Train Mountain Safety Rules be observed. In addition, heightened awareness of your movements in all areas must be a priority. Not simply in the operation of trains but where you walk, drive, camp and park must be considered. We should all look out for each other to continue our excellent record of safety.

Please be observant at all junctions and grade crossings both on the rails and off. Be ready and willing to give up your “right of way” to avoid a collision. A delay in your travel is preferable to an avoidable accident. Be aware that many new members and visitors are awe struck and concentrating on what they see or are taking pictures or videos, so are not aware of potential hazards, even right in front of them.

Make yourself familiar with the locations of the First Aid Station, Communications, Fire extinguishers and firefighting equipment, Emergency exits in buildings and the safety items each train consist is to carry. The daily weather forecast will be announced at the morning meeting and posted at the Triennial Office. There will be signs posted at all hazard points; read them, obey them and remind Visitors to comply as well. Please read the Triennial Brochure, and all other safety and operating notices included in your Triennial Registration packet. Important information about the entire Triennial is included.

All engineers and conductors are required to view the Safety video. Please take your earliest opportunity to view this video. Upon completion of that viewing, a sticker will be added to your ID badge. This sticker will be one of the safety inspection point requirements before allowing access to the main track. Many of our members have viewed a video we used for about nine years. However, we are making a new and expanded rail safety video and expect to have it ready for the Triennial.

A safe Triennial is the kind of memorable experience we hope everyone takes away with them in 2018.

Greetings from Joyce at the front office:

It snowed twice at the beginning of November. That's a bit early. Maybe that means we will get an early Spring? That's probably wishful thinking on my part but we'll see.

2018 Memberships and Triennial Registrations continue to pour in. I am guessing that will be the case from here on out.

For 2018 there are 243 memberships so far. Including family members, that makes 442 members so far for 2018. 376 people are presently registered for the Triennial. Those numbers are climbing daily, so watch for updates in the Gazette.

For the 2017 membership year, there is a total of 310 memberships and 615 members. Getting to those numbers was achieved over the entire year. We are already at 243 memberships for 2018 and it is just November.

About 85% of the registrations and memberships are done online. The other 15% are done through the office by mail or walk-in.

Visitors continue to come in despite the colder weather and sometimes rainy or rain and snow mixed days. This month they have come from Texas, Maryland, Colorado, Arizona, California and Oregon.

The Klamath Tribes are making progress on their Inn which will be near Train Mountain. It looks like a lot of the framing is in on 3 stories. From what I have read, there will be 76 rooms plus a gym, a convention room, an indoor pool and some other amenities. Will they have it done in time for the Triennial? I don't know. I think it would be awesome if they can, but it could be a very tight call.

Come early Spring I am seriously going to need help in the office. With between 50 to 70 visitors a day, meets, members and pre-Triennial, Triennial and post-Triennial traffic, I am not going to be able to keep up with everything by myself. (I am still catching up on some things that I was not able to address during the very heavy traffic of this past spring, summer and fall.) Having someone to greet, assist and indoctrinate (teach or instruct) visitors is one thing that will help most. Assisting people on the phone and help with various other office tasks would also be appreciated. Volunteers need to be able to be on their feet for varied periods of time. If you are interested, please give me a call at 541-783-3030. Even if you can only volunteer one or two days per week, it would really help. Five people volunteering one day per week each between the hours of 9:00 AM and 1:00 PM would work quite nicely. Someone helping out with the store would also be of great assistance.

I hope you are all excited about the upcoming 2018 Triennial and that you will be able to come.

Happy Holidays to you and yours!

Joyce

November 2017:

Train Mountain Library

Continuing our library oral history project this month, Pam and Stave Panzik volunteered to share their recollections of acquisitions and installations of Railroad artifacts at the Klamath & Western RR. Pictured here a relay cabinet acquired and refurbished by Panziks, and currently being used as K&W RR Welcome Kiosk. The Cabinet was used by the railroad for storage of relays and batteries.

In preparation for our sessions with Pam and Steve we have been going through the TM Library newspaper archive. We have found that having a good idea of the time line in which events happen, makes our sessions go more smoothly and accurately.

We are so grateful to Art Crisp for his sharing his time with us in the weeks just prior to his passing. What really shined through all of our hours of recording was his never ending devotion for TM and the K&W RR.

The TM Library wishes everyone a happy holiday season and New Year!

I AM NOT A ROBOT!

There have been a few changes made to the member's site, specifically where payment information is entered. The most noticeable change is that we have added a question asking if you are a robot. You check the box and depending on a bunch of things, you may be asked to choose from a set of pictures. You may be asked to click the pictures that show street signs, or click on pictures that show store fronts. It seems silly, but the questions and challenges are carefully crafted and updated by Google, and have an amazing success rate at determining if the entity pressing the keys is a real person or a computer program ("robot") trying to gain access.

The technology is called "CAPTCHA", or in our case "reCAPTCHA" and is quickly being the standard for online protection against robots, which pose a real problem to web sites. This is replacing the (to me) very irritating practice of trying to figure out what letters and numbers they are showing in fuzzy text. If you have questions or problems getting around the new challenge (or if you are a robot!), feel free to give Joyce a call in the office.

What is Amazon Smile?

In a nutshell, it is a way for Train Mountain to receive 501c3 donations from Amazon.

According to Amazon: AmazonSmile is a simple and automatic way for you to support your favorite charitable organization every time you shop, at no cost to you. When you shop at smile.amazon.com, you'll find the exact same low prices, vast selection and convenient shopping experience as Amazon.com, with the added bonus that Amazon will donate a portion of the purchase price to your favorite charitable organization. You can choose from nearly one million organizations to support.

When you go to Amazon Smile, choose Train Mountain Institute as your charity. In order for this to work, you must always start from Amazon Smile. Then all else is the same, your account, wish lists, etc. Also available is a direct link: <http://smile.amazon.com/ch/27-4031025> for the TMI account.

The AmazonSmile Foundation will donate 0.5% of the purchase price from your eligible AmazonSmile purchases. I found that just about everything I purchased lately is eligible.

If we can get a large number of Train Mountain supporters to take advantage of the Amazon Smile program, this could result in sizable donations to Train Mountain.
